Covid-19 update:

ASP calls for a rights-respecting response

As the situation with the coronavirus (COVID-19) develops, All Survivors Project (ASP) would like to keep our partners and friends updated on the measures we are taking to continue our work to uphold human rights by building a world where everyone is protected against conflict related sexual violence and all survivors have access to care, support and justice.

All team members are working from home and for the time being all external activities and travel plans have been suspended. We are supporting each other as a team in this challenging time. We are also keeping contact with our partners in our focus countries to support them in this crisis and to discuss plans transparently and collaboratively with them.

ASP calls for a rights-respecting response to this unprecedented crisis and urges that the transnational response to coronavirus is grounded in the principles of non-discrimination, transparency, respect and empathy for the most vulnerable.
